“You can love someone and still choose to say goodbye to them,” she says now. “You can miss a person every day, and still be glad that they are no longer in your life.”

Assignment

Over the summer, all SAS and AAA students are required to read Educated: A Memoir by Tara Westover (2018) for their Language Arts courses.

Furthermore, students are required to answer questions 1-5 on page 2 of this document. This assignment is due on the first day of school.

Why did we choose this book?

Tara Westover's memoir is different from any autobiographical text any of us have ever read. It is powerful, moving, and thoroughly entertaining. You will likely find yourself enjoying the reading, and when you put it down, you will find yourself wanting more. Our goal is for you to consider the question: What are Tara Westover's central arguments within Educated?

Educated is an account of the struggle for self-invention. It is a tale of fierce family loyalty, and of the grief that comes from severing one's closest ties. With the acute insight that distinguishes all great writers, Westover has crafted a universal coming-of-age story that gets to the heart of what an education is and what it offers: the perspective to see one's life through new eyes, and the will to change it.

Critically Acclaimed

- Number-one New York Times, Wall Street Journal, and Boston Globe best seller
- Named One of the Ten Best Books of the Year by The New York Times Book Review
- One of President Barack Obama's Favorite Books of the Year
- Bill Gates's Holiday Reading List
